Dedication

MRS. BEUTER

In recent years was mentioned a name
But we the '60 Seniors came
And decided to express our appreciation
To you, Mrs. Beuter, in our dedication.

A little verse isn't our due appreciation though, Mrs. Beuter, you have always been so kind, so patient, so understanding, so helpful, and so wonderful to us that we, the Senior class want to dedicate this yearbook, so small in comparison to what we really owe you, but all we have to offer, to you, who has so generously given of your time and effort to help us make a memory of the past to keep in the future.

Memories Are

As a midget compared to a GIANT, the Class of 1960 entered our first year of high school, ready for WAR AND PEACE among the other high school members.

Betty Lou Hitchcock, Henrietta Ploss, and Julie Matthews joined us then, and by using FRIENDLY PERSUASION the class got Mr. Bensink and Miss Bryson as class advisors.

Perhaps because Ike was re-elected President, we got a free day in English class listening to Elvis Presley and DON'T BE CRUEL. That spring one spoke of a certain BUTTERFLY in our class. Julie left us then. Our second year Jody McCourt moved here, just before Sputnik went up and traveled AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 DAYS.

Maybe because of our pancake supper flop, our class learned to eat Pizza, all the rage. We never saw Mr. Dillon and Chester down with the Asian flu, but when the Klompen Dancers got back from Rochester, the whole school was sick.

During the TWILIGHT TIME of a spring evening, we had a scavenger hunt and a wiener roast. Thus ended No.2.

Joan MarLett joined us in the fall of our junior year just as CHARLIE BROWN was everyone's favorite personality. We sold hot dogs at the football games and candy at the basketball games, but THE CANNIBAL QUEEN preferred the food we ate at the JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET.

Made of These

We lost our INN OF THE SIXTH HAPPINESS when Judy Hoffman left us at the end of school. Bob Dallacqua came and went, perhaps chased back to Sherman by a SHAGGY DOG.

We all wondered where the time went as we moved into our Senior homeroom with Mr. Bensink as our class advisor.

We certainly weren't in the SOUTH PACIFIC when we picked up cold, wet apples for cider, nor were we playing with water ON THE BEACH when we had our Senior Tommy Esso's Day.

EL PASO should have been our theme song for our Senior Play DESPERATE AMBROSE, but we didn't have the song then.

We're sure everyone will remember our Christmas party when Nelson got a set of curlers, just like Mommy's. What did you get, Mr. Cornell?

MACBETH got in a lot of the papers the class wrote, but not in the term papers, which were slaved over for weeks.

We held a PAJAMA GAME one night on the Senior Trip at Washington, D.C., and no wonder everyone asked us WHAT IN THE WORLD'S COME OVER YOU? When they saw our droopy eyelids.

Many times after graduation we'll think it's a SMALL WORLD we live in when we see our classmates again. And when w e do, we'll often talk of the fun and problems connected with this, our YEARBOOK.

And Then There Were "Play Days"

Tommy's Esso Day

One of the big events of the senior year was Tommy's Esso Day. We had a riot washing cars, filling gas tanks, selling cider and collecting money.

The poor seniors went home wet, tired, hot and a little richer. We all say, "It's worth it."

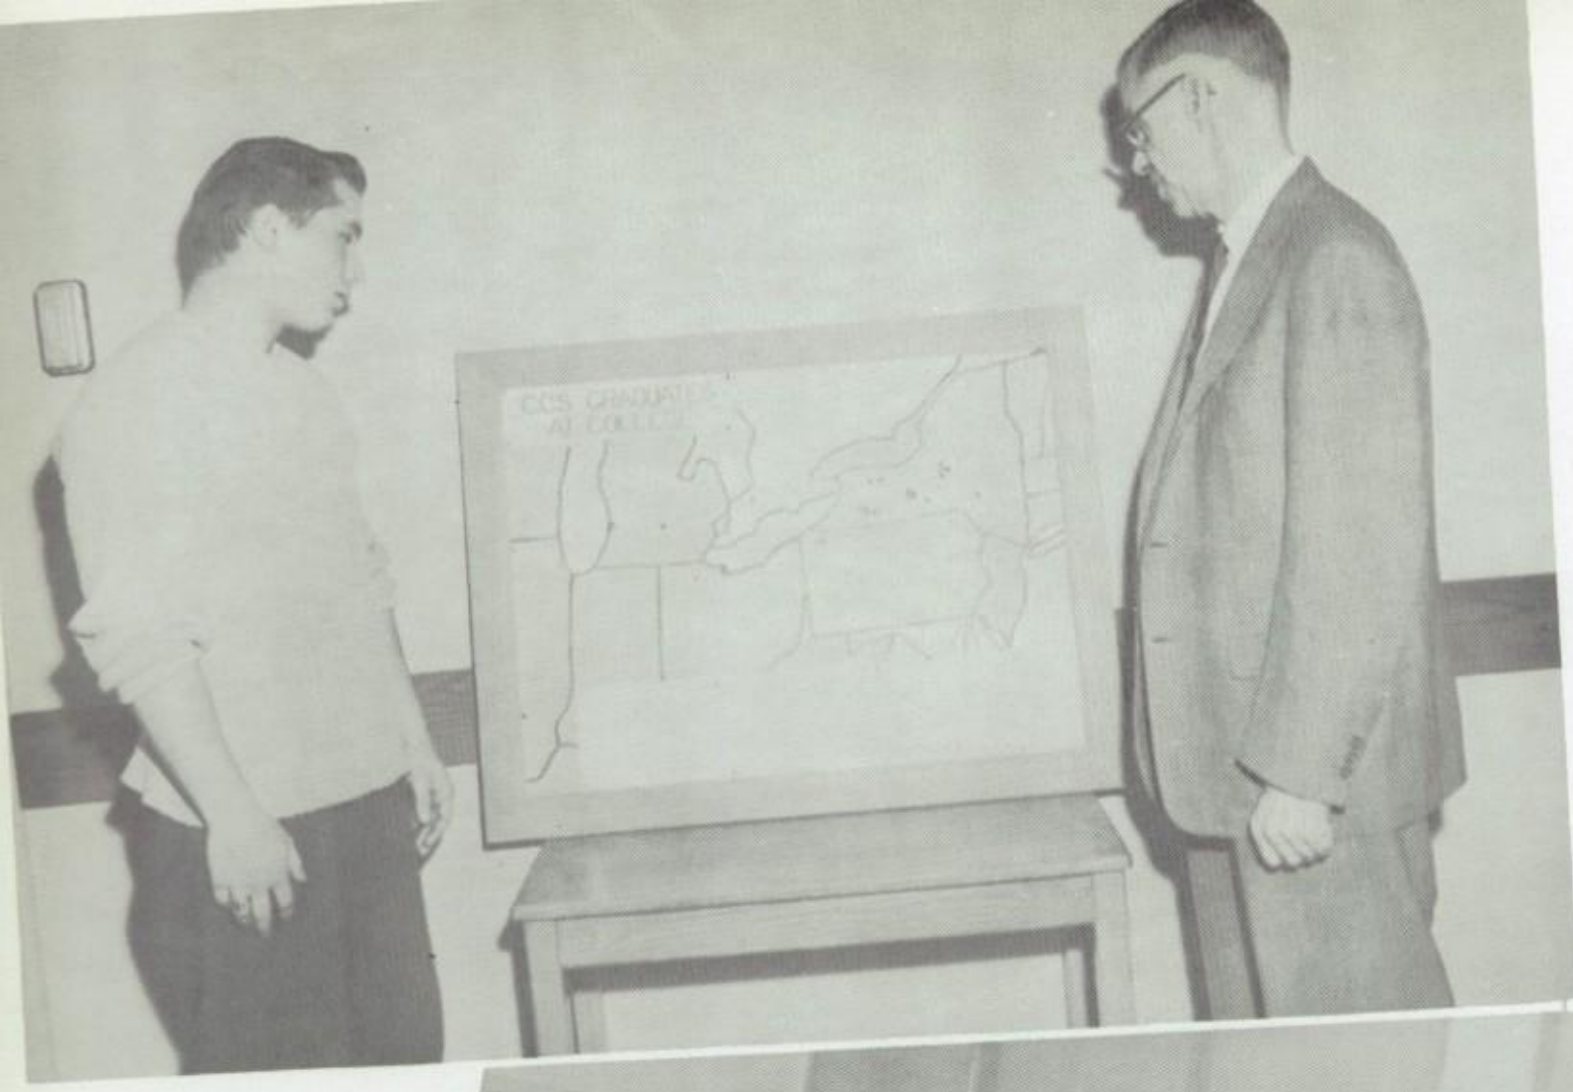
A Gifted Senior

Being a persuasive talker and liking the looks of money, Jerome did real well in the magazine sale this year. In fact, he did so well he became the highest salesman of the school. We always knew you had it in you, Jerome.

Black Tuesday

"What in the world's come over you?" Everyone was wondering the day that all the Senior girls and Dave came to school dressed in black. Kathy: "Cause Dave did it." Nancy: "I felt like it." Betty: "I wanted to be a Beatnik." Dave: "No comment."

Classes



Mr. TeWinkle helps Dave decide where to put his thumbtack next year.

Latin lives for Mr. Cornell's class as they begin the second conjugation verbs.

The space men learn how earth men work in Mr. Bensink's Ag Class.

Who's tickling whom in Mr. Hurley's Health Class?

The Shorthand Class learns from Mr. Moses how to write the notes the rest of us can't read.

Miss Bryson shows a Home-making class how to avoid indigestion.

A Scottish brogue tells the English IV Class that "the best laid schemes of mice an' men gang aft agley."

"Did she say bring onion salt or onions and salt?" Mr. Henry wonders while his Algebra Class thinks they're solving his problems.

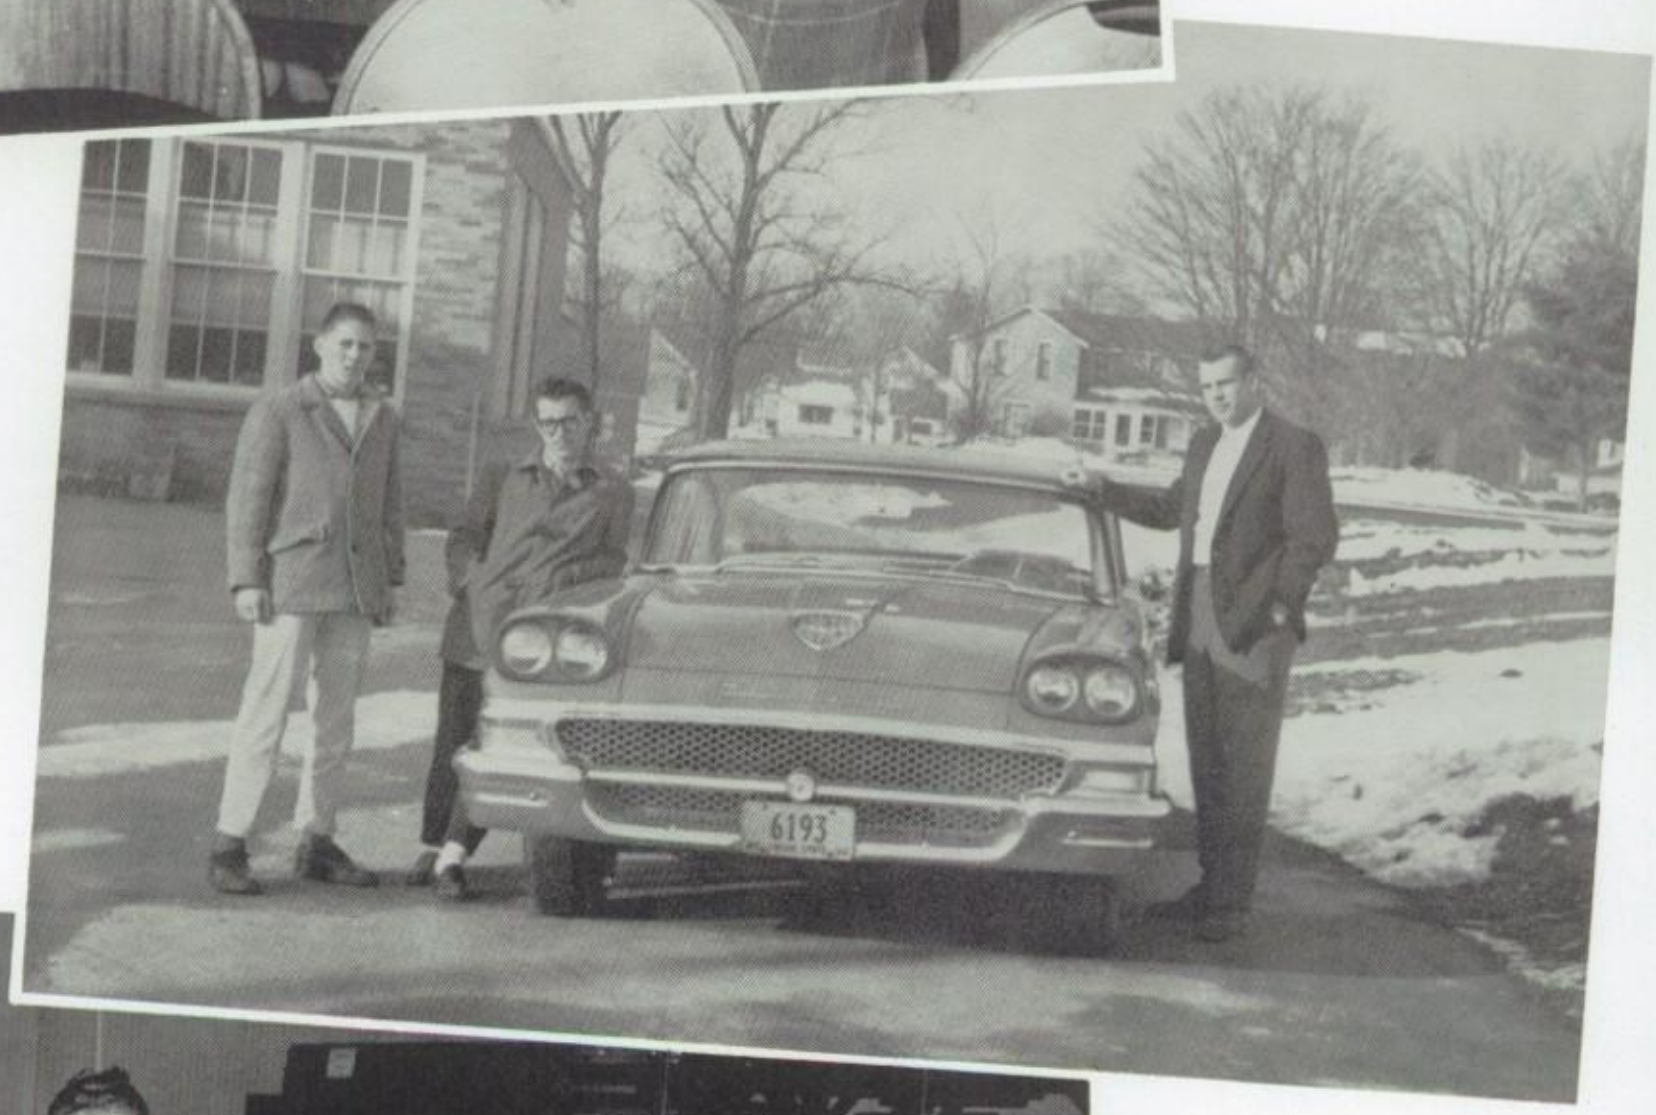
The boys' gym class learns from Mr. Brumagin how to do the cha-cha with a basketball.

"No, my friends, the Rio Grande is not the capital of Spain," says Mr. Burgard.

Mr. Adams shows his general science class what to do in case the band blows up the school.

Mr. Snyder sneaks a look at his mechanical drawing student's doodle.

Clothing for the family is made by members of one of the adult education classes taught by Mrs. Dorothy Mathews.



Mr. Andrews instructs high school pupils in the practices of safe road driving.

In the remedial reading course, Mr. Shevory helps students improve their reading habits.

On November 5 and 6, the rootin'est, tootin'est, gun-shootin'-est show ever to appear on stage was presented by the Senior Class.

A young entertainer, Ambrose Groves and his partner in "showbiz," Bert Miller, stumbled into town after being ousted from the stage-coach on which they were riding. From there on, pretty girls, a crooked sheriff, and a couple of the meanest hombres that side of the Mississippi added excitement and humor to the complexing situation.

'"I'll get him in a little bit of no time."

"Fog Island"

She's got hay fever!

A young scientist, Jerry Martin, believes he is the guest of a friend on a desolate island, but later learns otherwise when he encounters two phoney caretakers. The caretakers overlord, Brock, intends to wrest from Jerry vital government secrets relating to a new atomic-powered engine. Suddenly the sheriff appears and disrupts his plans. Justice wins out in the end.

Boys learn how to build strong bodies in Gymnastics Club. Mr. Brumagin shows them how.

"To put a little fun into your life" --- try Dance Club.

Practice and drill in the Sportsman's Club makes expert marksmen.

They play the games, and we in the Athletic Association buy their awards.

We learn about composers and their music in meetings of the Music Club.

Our Student Council discusses student activities and establishes policies.

We find out school news in the Student Printz, published bi-weekly by yhe Junior Class.

At the Christmas Dance, everyone enjoyed dancing to the music of a group from Fredonia State Teachers College.

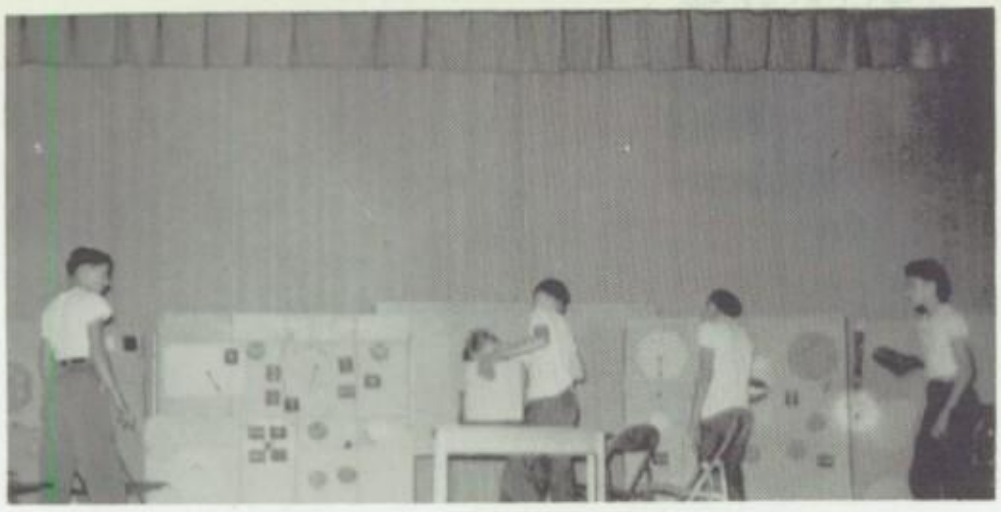
In National Honor Society, elected members apply the qualities of Scholarship, Leadership, Character and Service in various projects.

As members of Future Homemakers of America, we learn how to build strong homes.

As Future Nurses we learn how to patch up the members of the Gymnastics Club.

In F.F.A. we learn how to maintain and build up our farms. Pictured with us is our Chapter Sweetheart, Kathy Damon.

The Students Entertaining



The ninth grade is looking into the future to see Thanksgiving in outer space.

Eeek! The fifth graders are corn stalks, pumpkins, ghosts, scare-crows and bats.

The second graders did all they could, but still the prince cried on and on.

The tenth graders are awaiting the appearance of the May Queen.

Chorus

Mrs. Skowyra, B.S.
Musical Stare

It's "ma-me-mi-mo-mu" you hear at the west end of the building seventh period on Tuesdays and Thursdays, as the chorus learns to relax and to breathe correctly. We enjoyed singing everything from "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" to "Catch a Falling Star".

We shared our big moments--the Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, and Fredonia Festival--with the band. They also took care of our joint treasury. Our officers were: President, Bill Wilt; Vice-President, Al Skuse; Secretary, Betty Lou Hitchcock. Our accompanists were Sharon Beckerink and Shirley Willink.

Mr. Skowyra, B.S.

On Monday and Wednesday, seventh period, those weird sounds you hear are budding musicians learning their sharps and flats in band practice. The Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, and Fredonia Festival were our big projects this year, and we practiced a lot for them. Remember "The Overture to the Messiah", and "Bugler's Holiday"? We can't forget "Time Out for a Jam Session" either, even though it never seemed to fit into a concert.

Our officers this year are President, Nancy TeWinkle; Vice-President, Charlotte TeWinkle; Secretary, Kay Wiggers; and Treasurer, Celia Nakoski. But we all worked hard all year--at least, we think so!

Band

The three trumpeteers, having just played "The Buglers' Holiday," wish there were a holiday for buglers.

Nancy, Linda, Bruce, and Nelson thrill the audience with harmonious Christmas carols at the Christmas Concert.

Musical Groups

The dance band of C.C.S. peps it up and beats a real cool jive.

This year's football team improved our last year's work, but we should have done better. We had the material even though the results don't show it. One thing we did was to defeat Sherman, which was the first time since 1955 that Clymer has been able to defeat them in football.

Through graduation, the team will lose four players; however, younger boys are coming up. Since we ar turning eleven-man next year, the prospects look good.

Basketball

Playing a total of 17 games in the 1959-1960 Basketball season, Clymer made a fine record of 8 wins and 9 losses. Three of these losses were non-league games. The team ended the fairly successful season in third place.

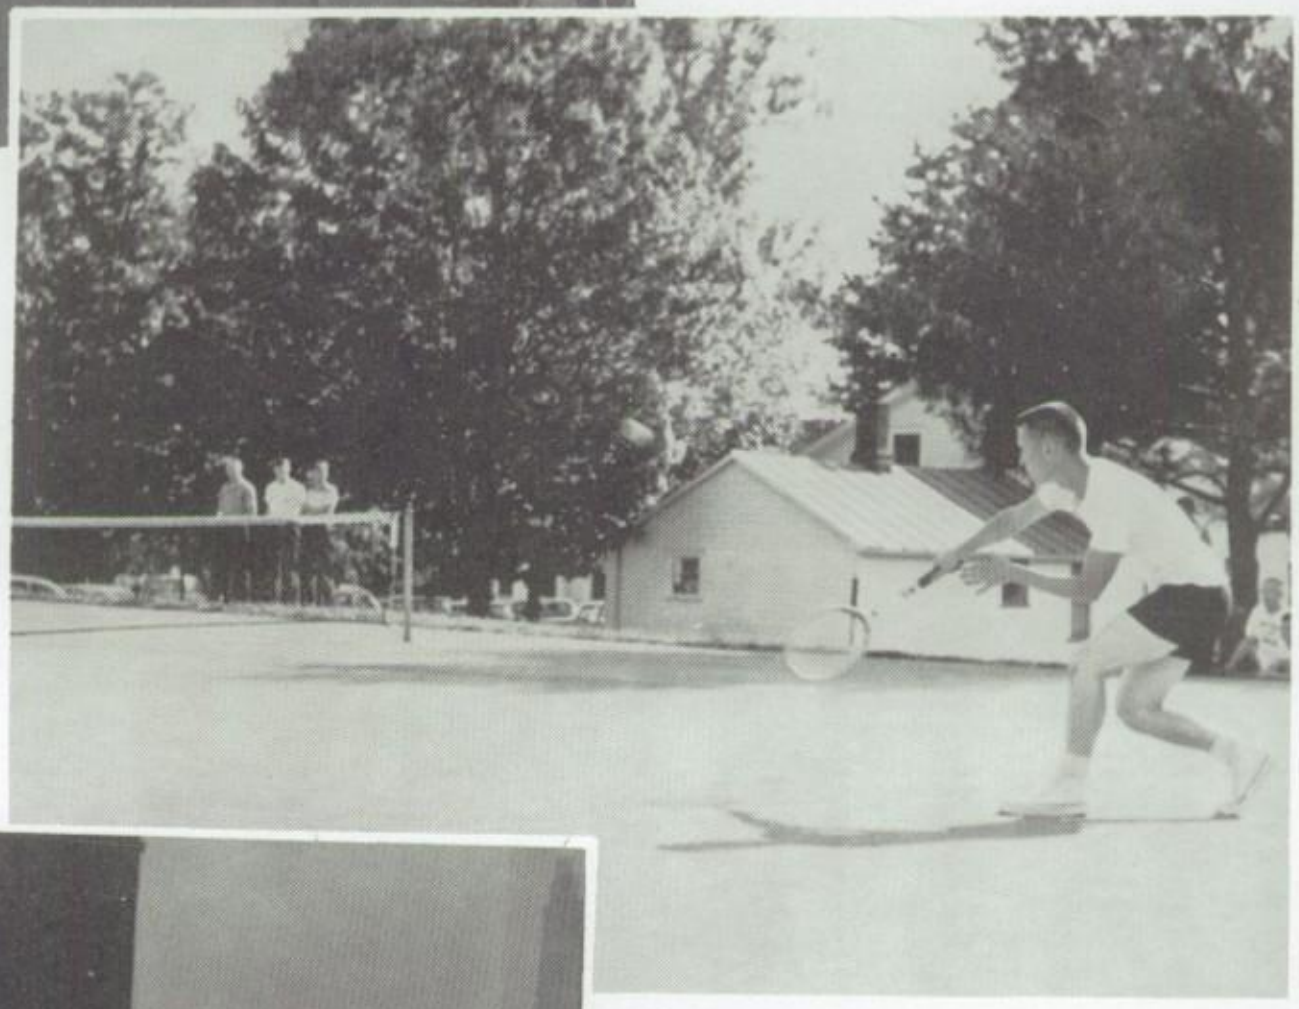
Small Brawls

Al Skuse and Tim Engel practice for the double elimination tournament which was set up in our school in ping pong. Any interested high school boy could join the tournament. Through elimination, the boys were narrowed down to three, who represented our school in the county play offs.



Bill Wassink, who represented our school in singles, shows us his skill. Jerry Mathews and Duane Dunnewold represented the school in doubles and won the trophy for the sectional playoffs.

Mr. Fassett shows his wrestling team how it is done. The team had two official matches with Wattsburg, which provided good experience for the team.
